

The Courier-Gazette.

The Public Library fund, we are very confident, is now destined to grow steadily to the desired proportions. The announcement made in The Courier-Gazette's Saturday issue brought cheer to the friends of the library, and we hear uttered upon many sides words of encouragement. Early the morning after the paper's appearance this communication was received:

Rockland, Oct. 10, 1903.
Editor of The Courier-Gazette: I take great pleasure in pledging ten dollars to the Public Library fund that your paper is raising.

A. C. McLean.
Mr. McLean's letter was supplemented shortly afterward by this letter from Congressman Littlefield:
Rockland, Oct. 12, 1903.
Editor of The Courier-Gazette: I wish to congratulate you on your public spirit in starting the subscription for the wainscoting, etc., in the Public Library. The change will be a great addition to the attractiveness of the building. As a slight token of my approval, in addition to my pledge as a member of the 12mo Club, I wish to subscribe the sum of ten dollars. Hoping that you may be successful in raising a sufficient amount therefor, I am sincerely yours,

C. E. Littlefield.
Another letter that gave us great pleasure was the following:
Editor of The Courier-Gazette: When your paper first suggested that our handsome Carnegie Library should have a mosaic floor, marble wainscoting and tinted walls and that the extra expense should be borne by the book lovers and readers of Rockland, I hoped that some way would be opened up for people like myself, who thoroughly enjoy the privileges of our Public Library, who can afford to give only a little. When The Courier-Gazette so generously heads the subscription list by donating $50, followed by the large sum of $200 by the Huntley's Minstrel management, and $50 from the gentlemen of the 12mo Club, and all this, in addition to the money already available from Miss Hall's concert, I felt that although a comparatively stranger in Rockland I should like to be able to add my little dollar to the larger subscriptions. I will consider it a privilege if you will accept mine in the spirit it is offered and place it, I hope, with other "dollar subscriptions" to help swell the fund to the requisite amount.

Mrs. J. H. Willson.
We particularly like Mrs. Willson's "dollar subscription" and hope it is the precursor of many similar contributions. It is not to be expected that the fund will be quickly rolled up in large amounts. We hope the impression will get ground that the movement belongs to citizens generally and that all may take pride in joining the ranks of givers. No contribution will be deemed too small. In this connection it may be convenient for many who are club members to put their contributions into a club donation. This suggestion, already brought forward in this column, we are glad to know is being taken up. Mrs. A. D. Bird, president of the Beethoven Club, sends us word that that organization (which already has done many things for the library) will give a concert at an early date, the proceeds to be applied to this fund.

We call the attention of former residents of our city to the opportunity this affords them of showing an interest in the Public Library of their old home. It would make this column very happy if contributions were to come flowing in from faraway points—even so far as California and the Philippine Islands. Every state in the Union where this appeal is read—The Courier-Gazette goes into all of 'em—might under these conditions be heard from. Meantime we hope to hear from those close at home. We have no subscription list to circulate. Friends of the movement who care to give it aid can in no easier manner make their influence valuable than by promptly sending word to this column.

WINTER TRAIN SCHEDULE.
I Went Into Effect Sunday—Personnel of the Train Crews.

The fall and winter schedule of the Maine Central Railroad went into effect Sunday and with it we bid adieu to the good old "Ten-Ten." Under the new arrangement passenger trains, on week days, leave Rockland at 5:15 and 8:20 a. m. and 1:40 p. m. They will arrive in Rockland at 10:40 a. m., 4:55 and 8:35 p. m. The freight leave at 5:20 and 11:35 and will arrive at 2:10 and 5:40, only a slight change from the present arrangement. The mixed train on Sunday leaves at 5 a. m. and arrives at 10:55 a. m. The personnel of the train crew is as follows:
5:15 a. m.—A. W. Hodgkins conductor, Albert Berry and E. O. Dow alternate baggage masters, Chas. T. Copeland brakeman, Joseph York, engineer.
5:20 a. m.—Frank Kelzer, conductor.
E. O. Dow and Levi Berry alternate baggage masters, Levi Berry and Harry Vining brakeman, Benjamin Whitehouse, engineer.
1:40 p. m.—W. F. Jones conductor, Edw. Heston baggage-master, C. M. McNamara, brakeman, Otis Bowen engineer.
The freight trains have practically the same crew as at present. Arrive C. Towle goes onto the Main line, having charge of a shifting engine at Waterville. L. S. York goes from the passenger to the freight service to succeed him. Car-cleaner Horace McDonald is promoted to the freight service. E. C. Bridges, who has been night operator here, has gone to Foxcroft in a similar capacity. Agent McLaughlin and his staff now settle down to the humdrum of a winter season.
This does not necessarily mean that there's nothing doing, however.

A large Rockland delegation goes to Topsham fair this week, weather permitting.

In Boston.

"Pierce" Tells Us Some of the Matters Going On At the Hub.

Boston, Oct. 9, 1903.
For the first time in history, the Union Jack has floated from the top of Bunker Hill monument. This unusual sight was witnessed on the morning when the steamship Maflower came up the harbor to her moorings in Charles-town, a special service delegation from the Honorable (you may drop the if but don't leave out the A) Artillery Company of London.

They came, they saw and they surrendered. They were welcomed by the mayor and the Governor and tomorrow they will be welcomed by the President of the United States. They arrived last Friday morning and since then they have been paraded for miles, given a smoker at the armory, a shore dinner at Providence, a special service at Trinity Sunday, preceded by the most gorgeous procession ever seen in Boston, a trip down the harbor, the most elaborate banquet ever given in Boston, when over one thousand men sat down to a feast costing over $60,000, and now they are rolling over the country in two palatial special trains consisting of over 300 men, seeing New York, where they were wine and dined, Washington where, as I said, they are to be received by the President and are to visit Mr. Vernon, Niagara Falls and a part of Canada, returning to Boston and sailing next Tuesday on the Columbus. The banquet, although it has been fully covered in the daily press, cannot be passed over without a word. Messrs. N. F. Cobb and F. W. Fuller of Rockland were present and have doubtless described it more fully to their friends than I can. But just one thing more than all others shows the powerful influence which are behind this reception of the "blooms" of the British. Massachusetts Avenue near its junction with Huntington Avenue has, since the erection of the Symphony Hall and Horticultural Hall, in addition to the Conservatory of Music, become a very busy center. On the night of the banquet, all traffic including the surface cars was stopped on Massachusetts Avenue at 6 o'clock, an amazing stretch of traffic being phony Hall to Horticultural Hall, under which a carpet, woven for the occasion, was spread, that the Ancients and their guests might walk from the reception to the latter hall to the banquet, the former hall without being exposed to the elements. This holding up of traffic on a busy thoroughfare for an entire evening and far into the morning gives some little idea of the proportions to which the magnificence of this reception has attained.

Everything about the banquet was made to order—the beautiful carpet on the floor, the chairs, the table linen, and the beautiful souvenir plates. 450 miles of wire were strung in the electric effect, which was the grandest ever attempted in this country. All in all, it was a feast for the gods and its like has never been seen before. A friend of mine remarked that it makes old Bunker look as if he had three small pieces of silver and that with 75 men doing nothing but open wine it would not be strange if some of those present saw something as wonderful as the handwriting on the wall.

Boston has fully recovered from the vacation period and things are beginning to look lively. The political campaign is on. Both parties have held their conventions, both of last year's nominees have been nominated again, the Democrats again enlisting under the banner of "Billy" Gaston, who everybody admits to be a "good fellow," and the Republicans again supporting Gov. Bates. The Democrats have a lengthy platform in which they deplore and denounce, insult the Hebrew and other races and declare the principles of democracy to be eternal and immutable, without mention of the Kansas City platform, free silver or Richard Olney. The Republicans in a three-hour platform written by ex-Gov. Crane and read by the Hon. Charles W. Taft, of Gov. Bates. I attended both conventions and judging from appearances, I should be surprised if Gaston makes as good a run as he did last year. It really isn't Gaston's fault. He has been imposed upon a great deal. Because he is a man of wealth, it seems that every gang of young fellows composing a Democratic club considers him a legitimate source from whence may come their rent and furniture. When the Colonel draws the line, they get their backs up and bolt the tickets. This is only an example of some of the things he has to labor under. Nobody really considers him seriously or expects him to win, least of all his own party, because he is not what is termed in political language, "a good mixer," and he has been too closely connected all his life with the wealthy class, which it is the business of his party, as at present constituted, to attack, to have any hope of the united support of his party. When the Democratic party of Massachusetts, who nominates men of the people who can get out the whole vote, then the Republicans will have good cause to get up and hustle. At present there is no Gaston money in sight.

A great deal of Boston interest has been centered in Pittsburgh this week where the champion Boston Americans and the champion Pittsburgh Nationals are fighting out the championship of the world. Boston won only one of the three games played here last week and Pittsburgh has won only one of the three games played there last week. The score, therefore, is even. It has been whispered quietly around that gate receipts and not glory are the guiding motive in the series. There has been excellent playing but the way in which the games have gone cannot but arouse a little suspicion. Meanwhile, if they should come back to Boston, the grounds which do not hold the crowd which would pile out to see them.

I was out at Harvard Wednesday afternoon to see the Harvard practice game with Bates. The attendance was much larger than is usual at the early games of the season, possibly because of the narrow escape Harvard had at the hands of the University of Maine. Bates was much disappointed, because they expected to do as well as well as Maine did and at the end found a score rolled up against them nearly equal to that against Bowdoin a short time ago. Charles W. Littlefield, now a member of the Law School, was on the bleachers near me.

Far more interesting to me than the game, however, was the progress which is being made on the stadium which is in process of erection on Soldiers Field. It is given by the class of '79. I think, and is expected to be completed in time for the Yale game. It will seat 50,000.

What a Good Shirt we can sell you for 50 Cents.

Look into our South Window this week, see the beautiful patterns, choose in and examine the make, size and trimming.
1st—They are made of materials usually put into higher priced shirts.
2d—They are cut so liberally as to be always comfortable, and after being washed and shrunk they are larger than other lines before laundering.
3d—They are all made, trimmed and laundered in a style equal to those costing double the price.
4th—They give satisfaction impossible to get in any other 50c shirts.
5th—All our shirts are cut in the following widths and proportions:

14	14 1/2	15	15 1/2	16	16 1/2	17
46	46	48	48	52	52	54

The sleeves are cut very full around the arm, hole, elbow and wrist, which remedies a fault commonly found in other makes.

The Knox Club of Massachusetts had a most enjoyable evening when it kept open house for members and friends at the American House a few weeks ago. As at its other gatherings, there were some there who renewed old friendships and some who made new ones. The faces used to be well known in Knox County met with us. At our recent meeting, it was voted to give up the headquarters for hall in charge will soon be taken up by the proprietor and the sentiment of the club was unanimous for the former plan of holding the meetings in a good hall near the center of the city and a committee having the selection of the hall in charge will soon make a report. The club is in a prosperous condition and has increased its membership this fall.

MISS YORK'S CLEVER SHOT.

Miss Rena York of this city, who has been visiting in Oxford county, shot and killed a deer Oct. 8. Miss York was in a party of 10 who was making headquarters at Camp Sabbatus in Lovell, guests of A. P. Bassett of Norway. On the 8th Mr. Bassett, Miss York and another guest came upon three deer and a bear. Mr. Bassett wounded one of the deer and started in pursuit. Catching the inspiration of the moment, Miss York fired at another deer and the shot went true to its mark. The deer when dressed weighed 200 pounds, and was a beauty. Miss York used a 20 Winchester and the skill with which she handled it is still the talk of Camp Sabbatus. She arrives home today.

SOME WAR RECOLLECTIONS.

Interesting Letter From W. E. Spear, Received by Edwin Libby Post.

At the meeting of Edwin Libby Post Friday night the following letter was received from W. E. Spear, a former Rockland boy, who is now located in Washington, D. C. as attorney:

Washington, D. C., Sept. 30.
Edwin Libby Post:—Of course it is pardonable for me, if, having an interest in any of the Maine regiments of the Civil War, that this interest should be a little more pronounced in favor of the old 4th, for the reason that I knew personally all of its officers, some of its field officers and many of its privates, and had served with some of them I had gone to school.

I remember that beautiful summer morning when the "Fourth" marched through Main street, then just damp with dew, and waving from its way to Atlantic wharf to take the steamer Daniel Webster, I think, for Portland, that I, a small lad, ran by its side, looking with intense eyes at that splendid body of men sweeping along with serious faces and firm steps. You of the "Fourth" can imagine with what interest, last Sunday, I went over your first battlefield, Bull Run. I reached Centerville—Brush away the mists of 42 years and you will recall the place—no, I will not call it a place, but rather a road with three or four houses on it, all judging from their aged appearance from the time during the war. I saw the place, approximately, where you were encamped on Saturday night, July 20, and drove over the "Arrenton" Turnpike on which you marched to the battle. I do not know how many hard roads in the Peninsula, in the Wilderness, or elsewhere in Virginia that I have seen, over which you have marched after that Sunday of July 1861, but I have yet to see one more difficult on which to journey—a narrow, rocky, dusty, steep-hilled road. No wonder you were tired. No wonder, when forming at 2:30 a. m. and waiting until one hour after sunrise, then turning into that still more narrow road to the right of the Turnpike, there halting until noon, there getting, perhaps, your first look at McDowell who doubtless at the time seemed to your eyes more an embodiment of battle than he did six hours afterward, then going at double quick for a moment to the right, and back for another mile, the whole distance being 14 or 15 miles on a hot July day, no wonder that men felt exhausted by the wayside! Heat, dust, thirst and chafing do not make great howls when you get in their work all the same.

I imagine the regimental disposition to take the whole fight on your shoulders was greater here than at Gettysburg, but at the latter battle you were willing to farm out a portion of the contract. And that march past the Sudley Springs church—then a hospital—through the woods until five o'clock, and then on to the field, left the first line of battle. I tried to trace out your march, your stand and your retreat—I believe they call it a "fall back"—generally. The old men about you tell me that the country has not changed much, now and then a piece of wood cleared but the general features are the same. It is, I know, vain hope to indulge, but I can cherish myself before a public with fantastic capers.—Kansas City Journal.

AS OTHERS SEE IT.

Chamberlain Tells Workmen They Are Deceived by Protection.

How much in earnest is Mr. Joseph Chamberlain with his programme for a preferential tariff may be judged by the fact that he is answering by post quest as asked of him and critics are offered against his views by British workmen. In such a letter to a trades unionist (the letter being published in the Dublin Freeman's Journal) Mr. Chamberlain says that he attaches much importance to the opposition of the trades union leaders to his programme. He does not think that labor generally follows the union leaders in voting on public questions, and in support of his belief he mentions the fact that, though in his own district the members of the trades councils are opposed to him almost to a man, his majority at the last contested election was 4,500 in a purely working class district.

In this letter also Mr. Chamberlain seems to supplement his more official statement that the "exporter pays the tariff," for he says that anyway the point is immaterial, for even if the price of food, for example, is raised by the tariff the "rate of wages will certainly be raised in greater proportion." This has been the case, he points out, both in the United States and in Germany, and in the former country the "available balance left to the workman after he has paid for necessities is much larger than here." In answer to the assertion that such a change as Mr. Chamberlain proposes would destroy the export trade of the United Kingdom, again he points to this country, of which each of our American free traders said the same thing when the Dingley bill was under discussion—that if it went into effect it would kill the export trade of the United States. But the export trade of the United States has been growing steadily ever since the Dingley law went into effect, and, as Mr. Chamberlain says in his letter to the British workman, "the increase of exports, wages and general prosperity during the last twenty years in the United States and Germany has been greater than in the United Kingdom, which is the only civilized country in the world to enjoy the blessings of unrestricted free imports." It seems that every one can point a moral from our own country except our own American free trader.—New York Press.

Possible Democratic Compromise.

Speculation as to what the national Democracy will do next year naturally increases in interest. The practical lack of unanimity as to what Republicans will do tends to center attention upon the Democratic party. The Nevada Republican, which is the only one of the political papers which discusses political matters with intelligent discrimination, after discussing Clevelandism and Bryanism, confesses that "the most probable result is the nomination of some candidate who through the various party vicissitudes has been comparatively obscure, but always a Democrat. And the platform will in all probability be chiefly devoted to tariff and trusts, and will contribute what it can to a general forgetfulness that there has ever been a silver issue. In its final analysis this conclusion will be a Cleveland triumph on the platform and a Bryan triumph on the candidate."

It is possible that the two factions of the Democratic party will be able to get together next year, but the indications are certainly not rosy at the present time.—Des Moines Capital.

Tillman's "Issue."

"Pitchfork" Tillman of South Carolina has broken loose again. He declares that the leading national issue is "White man or nigger?" He says that the repeal of the fourteenth and fifteenth amendments is inevitable and that the national Democratic convention will favor such action. A more important matter will be how to muzzle Tillman.—Goshen (N. Y.) Democrat.

A Famous New York Bank.

Early last century a charter was granted a company to set up a clientel works in New York, and in consideration of the boon these works would be a clause was added granting banking privileges. The astute men at the head of the concern saw possibilities of development on banking lines not apparent in the manufacture of chemicals and decided to make the business a banking one. To retain the privilege, however, it was necessary to manufacture chemicals, and so then, as today, an admirable pretense was made of doing this. In the fine establishment of the great Chemical National bank on Broadway a little shop is apportioned to a manufacturing chemist, who potters about mixing ingredients. He is not much troubled with business, but now and again a New York citizen will startle a visitor by taking him into this shop and asking for a dime worth of castor oil—which is supplied. This was the only bank which did not suspend specie payments during the civil war.

Military Geese.

Even the geese in Germany march with military precision, which may be the reason why the famous drill style of the German infantry is called the "goose step." A writer in Travel thus describes the great goose armies which are so interesting to the health seekers at Bad-Naumburg:

"It is worth while to go to Ober-Moeren at 6 o'clock in the afternoon to see these geese returning home from the fields. The village is white with them; hundreds and thousands, regiments and brigades of geese, marching along with military precision. As they near home they separate of their own accord; sixteen to the right, twelve to the left, a detachment up a lane, and so on—all quacking loudly, but bearing themselves with that keen sense of order and discipline which distinguishes the vanguard."

Why Corn Pops.

Finally a scientific sharp comes to our rescue and in science explains the phenomenon of the popping of popcorn in an extremely lucid and interesting manner. The learned gentleman says:

The starch polygons are of such nature and construction as to facilitate expansion and render it explosive in character. There is a fracture of a particle along its two radii, the endosperm swelling very considerably, the peripheral portions cohering with the hull, but the fractured quarters turning back to meet below the embryo.

There is something doing at the new bowling alley opened by Staples and Kenniston at the Brook.

Hot water apparatus is being added to the other modern conveniences in the home of J. R. Frye on Crescent street.

The dances given by the Farwell opera house orchestra are to be resumed tomorrow evening in Willoughby hall.

Golden Rod Chapter had a meeting Friday night, but there was no work, owing to the absence of several of the officers.

Clifton Robbins, light keeper on the Breakwater, is spending his vacation in Boston. Meantime his brother Edgar is in charge of the flashlight.

The first circle of the season of the Congregational Society will be held Wednesday under the auspices of the Young People's Society. Supper will be served at 6.30 and a full attendance is desired.

The Bath Times heaves a sigh of regret at the discontinuance of the Keizer Gilt-Edged Express and says that it was one of the most popular trains on the time-table. Rockland people will agree to this sentiment.

Tomorrow, Wednesday, is the big day at the Topsham fair. The train arrangements are fine. You leave here on the morning train, get dinner and supper with "Bert" Ames at the Tontine, enjoy a whole day at the big fair and arrive home on the 8.35.

After a period of 36 years with quartet choirs, the Congregational church Sunday returned to congregational singing. The change is made in the interest of economy but only on that account is it acceptable to the members of the society under the new arrangement. Mrs. Nellie Cote-Howard, organist, leads the singing, with Mrs. Wright at the organ.

The Lewiston Standard Journal published a good portrait of Parker T. Pearson, superintendent of schools at Eastport and Lubec. Mr. Pearson taught the high school in Warren three years and was elected superintendent at Eastport while there. Mr. Pearson married Miss Edith Kallioch of this city. He is meeting with excellent success in his chosen profession.

A horse belonging to George Daggett, Rankin street, died Friday night while Mr. Daggett was absent from home. William Kallioch, who resides nearby heard the noise made by the struggling animal, and running to the stable found the horse in his death throes.

Next morning while Mr. Kallioch was hauling the animal away his own horse suddenly fell and died beside the body of Mr. Daggett's horse.

The Security Trust Co. at its monthly directors' meeting yesterday elected W. O. Vinal of Warren a member of the board, in place of J. L. Goss, resigned. Resolutions were adopted on the death of the late J. H. Carleton of Rockport, a former director. The company's first month's business presents a very gratifying showing, particularly in the growth of time deposits, upon which interest is paid depositors at the rate of 3 1/2 per cent.

The greatest bargains in Wall Paper ever seen in Knox county, can now be found at Spear's, 408 Main street. They are closing out their large stock at wonderfully low prices.

C. M. Walker has sold the Mark L. Ingraham house to Capt. Andrew J. Gray, who will reside there, with his son Arthur.

Rockland is again free from contagious disease. Morris Perry has completely recovered, and together with the family is no longer under quarantine. The nurse has returned home.

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Trade will be held this Tuesday evening in the common council rooms. It is hoped that there will be a good attendance and plans mapped out for the season's work.

Rev. E. H. Chapin attends the session of the Maine Universalist Sunday school convention which is being held in Westbrook this week. While there he will visit his daughter, Miss Elsie Chapin, who is attending Westbrook Seminary.

A. W. Gregory and George L. St. Clair of the Y. M. C. A. Swimming Club took their daily plunge at the Thorndike & Hix wharf yesterday, while other folks were trying to keep warm in front of a stove fire. They had joined in the venturesome undertaking.

The prison excursion Saturday brought a large number of people from all parts of the state, many of whom continued to Rockland to visit relatives or see the sights of the case might be. This excursion is one of the most popular which the Maine Central offers.

The tax collections on the commitment of 1903 now amount to over $72,000—splendid showing for Collectors Simonton. Last month alone the official turned into the city treasury $42,329, one-third of the entire commitment. Withal, Mr. Simonton is very modest about the matter.

In addition to transacting considerable routine business Friday afternoon the W. C. T. U. listened to some interesting remarks by Miss Alice Moore, the state organizer. Mrs. Stanley, an earnest worker at Southwest Harbor, was also present and described the efforts of her union. The national convention of the W. C. T. U. will be held in Cincinnati next month.

When the Highland car left Maine Central wharf on its 10 o'clock trip Sunday night the conductor saw a blaze in the carriage house owned by William E. Staples, situated on South street near the wharf. It was impossible to give an alarm there as the key to the box could not be found. When the car reached Park street the word was given to a reporter of The Courier-Gazette who sounded an alarm from box 37. Later an alarm was given from the box at the head of Maine Central wharf, and the two, together with the startling appearance which the fire gave to the southern sky made people believe that a conflagration was in progress. The building was a small one, three stories high, and was insured by the Commercial Union Assurance Co. of New York. The fire was extinguished in short order. The insurance was $350 on carriage house and contents and was carried by Cochran, Baker & Cross. Two hours later the department was summoned to the same vicinity by a fire which destroyed a small store house owned by Lydia Titus. In this storehouse were household goods belonging to Mrs. Allen of Park Harbor, which were insured by Cochran, Baker & Cross, and eight or ten rowboats comprising Capt. Acel Trueworthy's well known fleet. The many friends of Capt. Trueworthy will learn with regret that he had no insurance. He was to have taken out a policy Monday. So far as known both fires must have been set.

FULLER & COBB

Many Rockland people who have been guests there will regret to learn that the Highland House, in Wisconsin, was destroyed by fire last Thursday afternoon. The loss was $10,000 and insurance about $5,000. W. G. Hubbard, the proprietor, has many friends in this section.

In an article descriptive of the growth of the New England telephone system, the Bath Times has the following to say of a former Rockland boy:

"The present man in charge is Eugene R. Spear, who has been manager of this city and vicinity will be pleased to learn of the most rapid growth has taken place."

Here are a few current market prices: Squashes, 3 cents per pound; cabbages, 3 cents per pound; tomatoes, 7 cents per pound; sweet potatoes, 8 pounds for 25 cents; chicken, 20 cents per pound; cranberries, 10 cents per quart. Ripe tomatoes are scarce and poor this fall, much to the grief of those who find in the ripe tomato a great delicacy.

Rev. F. E. White, formerly pastor of the Methodist church in this city, and who has since been located in Blue Earth City, Minn., now has the pastorate of the Highland House. The reduction of the number of the districts of the conference has enabled Mr. White to take one of the finest and most rapidly growing churches in northern Minnesota. His friends in this city and vicinity will be pleased to learn of his good fortune.

Rev. S. L. Holman, oldest brother of Rev. W. O. Holman of this city, died Friday morning at his home in Somerville, Mass., and the funeral took place Sunday afternoon. Obituary notice of the death of the family, all Baptist ministers, were living. Since that time Rev. John W. Holman dropped dead near his home in Westbury, and the death of Rev. S. L. leaves two brothers, Rev. W. O. Holman of this city, and Rev. George W. Holman, formerly pastor of the Baptist church in Lewiston, and now of White Plains.

Rev. W. O. Holman, while in attendance at the Hop River convention, received news of the prospective death of his brother and arrived in Somerville to be present while the latter was breathing his last.

Eaten W. Porter arrived from New York Friday night and had embarked upon a pleasant vacation experience, when he received a telegram which summoned him back to New York upon an important business matter. He left on the 9 o'clock pullman Saturday night and hopes to be able to transact his business in season to return for the annual banquet of the Y. M. C. A. Debating Society, which had been set for Thursday night, in his honor. Mr. Porter has been a very busy man since he exchanged his quiet life of Rockland for the whirl of the great metropolis, but he has found time to remember that Rockland is one of the best places on earth, and he was generally glad to get back even for a few days among his old associates—a feeling which was mutual. The commission advertising business conducted by J. Newton Porter, and with which Eaten has been connected in the past year, has now been organized into a stock company under the name of "The John Newton Porter Co.," and Eaten W. Porter is its secretary and treasurer.

The delightful fall weather about which we have boasted so much in the past few weeks took a sudden turn last Wednesday since which time the country to the west of us has been a scene of flood and disaster, checking traffic in many places. The rain hung off wonderfully in this particular section, but came down Sunday and yesterday in generous quantities, accompanied by gales and high tides. Our last boat from Boston, the City of Bangor, arrived Wednesday morning and since coming down river has laid at the wharf waiting a change. The City of Bangor has also been tied up at Boston, so that it has been a week since we have had steamboat communication with the Hub. The other lines between Rockland and points on the coast have also been having a vacation. Yesterday the Gov. Bodwell ventured across, and Capt. Dyer says that the waves were the highest he ever saw on that route. C. M. Harrington, the American express agent, said yesterday that in his 25 years' experience with that business he had never seen the Boston and Portland boats tied up at this port for such a long period.

Reports frequently reached the police station Sunday that high jinks were in progress at the Lindsay House. Marshal Fox said he had his time until dark and then proceeded there with Officers Sherer, Post and Landers. They found a Sabbath-like stillness, five gallons of hard stuff and four bottles of beer. Melvin Grant, the proprietor, was arraigned yesterday and pleaded not guilty and was bound over to the December term of court. Friday the police raided the saloons of Charles Burns and George Jewett but found nothing. Frank E. Post has been temporarily assigned to the beat made vacant by Deputy Marshal Brewster's resignation.

The much talked of candlepin bowling match between the carriers and the clerk in the postoffice was rolled off on the Staples & Kenniston alleys Saturday night. Owing to the train being late Farrington and Habbidge substituted in the first string for Flanagan and Stewart. Habbidge worked hard but the best he could do was to roll 29, and this the clerks claim lost them the game. But even with this low string the carriers won the first string by only seven pins—now many to overcome with two strings to roll. Seventy was the goal aimed for but what reached very seldom. When the final string had been rolled it was figured that the Carriers had won by 13 pins. Following the game all partook of an oyster stew at Welch's, for which the clerks paid.

The price of fresh eggs has jumped to 20 cents and marketmen tell you that prices are to be higher than they were last winter, when it seemed as if the limit had been reached. The moulting season is now at its height, and during this time hens are not over and above inclined to lay. This period will last until the pullets begin to lay which will somewhat relieve the market. One cause of the scarcity, as almost everybody knows, is the fact that so many eggs are gathered during the summer to place in cold storage. This class of eggs sells during the winter at a somewhat lower price than fresh eggs, but the average person has no use for the time egg as a breakfast or supper dish. Be that as it may, this is the reason why eggs cost three and four cents apiece during the winter. Columbus would not have been so frisky about demonstrating the egg trick if he had lived in our time.

County Attorney Howard was in Camden Friday afternoon to represent the state in the case against Fred A. Packard, who is charged with attempting to obtain the personal recognition of Mr. Packard, and needed no further assurance from the latter that he would be present whenever there might be a hearing. The shooting continues to be an all-absorbing topic at Camden, and while there is some difference of opinion regarding the justification, everybody concedes that Mr. Packard is a good upright citizen and will give real proof of continued life and love. He can be found week days at the residence of James Clark, 18 Myrtle street.

Capt. Fred C. Hall has received a large and excellent portrait of Robert H. McCurdy of New York, for whom his new vessel has been named. The schooner will be launched Wednesday, Oct. 21. Mrs. McCurdy will christen the vessel and Mr. McCurdy will be among the guests if he can possibly get away from his business long enough to make the trip.

Mr. Beverage of Thomaston, who is a student at Bowdoin made a pleasant call at The Courier-Gazette office Friday night. He says that the newspaper accounts of the night-dress riot were rather exaggerated although a number of the students sustained rough treatment from the town boys. Austin Spear of Rockland was one of those injured, as already stated in this paper, but his wound was by no means serious. The students planned to prosecute one of their assailants, but have dropped the matter as they did not have conclusive evidence. Mr. Beverage was not especially hostile about the Bowdoin football team as some of the men were laid up and others not in good condition. The outlook is certainly even worse since Saturday's game with Exeter, when several Bowdoin men were injured, among them being Chester Wiggin of Rockland, who will probably not be able to play again for several weeks. Wiggin was one of the star men of the Bowdoin team.

Father Beret hurried to the spot, and when in the deepening gloom he saw Adrienne flinging herself violently this cape from the clasp of a man, he did to perfection what a priest is supposed to be the least fitted to do. Indeed, considering his age and leaving his vocation out of the reckoning, his performance was amazing. It is not certain that the blow dealt upon Governor Hamilton's jaw by M. Roussillon was a stiffer one than that sent straight from the priest's shoulder right into the short ribs of Captain Farnsworth, who thereupon released a mighty grunt and doubled himself up.

Adrienne recognized her assailant at the first and used his name freely during the struggle. When Father Beret appeared she called to him: "Oh, Father—Father Beret! Help me! Help me!"

When Farnsworth recovered from the breath expelling shock of the jab in his side and got himself once more in a vertical position, both girl and priest were gone. He looked this way and that, rapidly becoming aware of the beginning to wonder how the thing could have happened so easily. His ribs felt as if they had been hit with a heavy hammer.

"By Jove!" he muttered all to himself. "The old praver singing heaven! By Jove!" And with this very brilliant and relevant observation he rubbed his sore side and went his way to the fort.

CHAPTER XI.

A SWORD AND A HORSE PISTOL. THE captain's adventure with Father Beret came just in time to make it count against that courageous and bellicose missionary in more ways than one. Farnsworth did not tell Hamilton or any other person about what the priest had done, but nursed his sore ribs and his wrath, waiting patiently for the revenge that he meant soon to take.

Alice heard from Adrienne the story of Farnsworth's conduct and his humiliating discomfiture at the hands of Father Beret. She was both indignant and delighted, sympathizing with Adrienne and glorying in the priest's vigorous pugilistic achievement.

"Well," she remarked, with one of her infectious trills of laughter, "so far the French have been the best of it, anyway. Papa Roussillon knocked the governor's cheek nearly off, then Rene cracked the Irish corporal's head, and now Father Beret has taught Captain Farnsworth a lesson in fist-fu that he'll not soon forget. If the good work can only go on a little longer we shall see every English soldier in Vincennes wearing the mark of a Frenchman's blow."

Then her mood suddenly changed from smiling lightness to almost fierce gravity, and she added: "Adrienne Bourcier, if Captain Farnsworth ever offers to treat me as he did you, mark my words, I'll kill him—kill him! Indeed I will! You ought to see me!"

"But he won't dare touch you," said Adrienne, looking at her friend with round, admiring eyes. "He knows very well that you are not little and timid like me. He'd be afraid of you."

"I wish he would try it. How I would love to shoot him into pieces, the hateful wretch! I wish he would shoot him into pieces, the hateful wretch! I wish he would shoot him into pieces, the hateful wretch! I wish he would shoot him into pieces, the hateful wretch!"

The French inhabitants all, or nearly all, felt as Alice did, but at present they were helpless and dared not say or do anything against the English. Nor was this feeling confined to the creoles of Vincennes; it had spread to most of the points where trading posts existed.

Hamilton saw the work of the French in the eyes of the English. He saw the work of the French in the eyes of the English. He saw the work of the French in the eyes of the English. He saw the work of the French in the eyes of the English.

Colonel Vigo was not long held a prisoner. Hamilton dared not exasperate the creoles beyond their endurance, for he knew that the savages would closely sympathize with their friends of long standing, and this might lead to a revolt and coalition against him—a very dangerous possibility. Indeed, at least one of the great Indian chieftains had already frankly informed him that he and his tribe were loyal to the Americans.

"You'd better let Vigo return to St. Louis," he said. "He had a bowl of something hot steaming between them. I know him. He's harmless if you don't rub him too hard the wrong way. He'll go back if you treat him well and tell Clark how strong you are here and how foolish it would be to think of attacking you. Clark has but a handful of men, poorly supplied and tired with long, hard marches. Old Jago's moment you can't fail to understand that you'd better be friends with this man Vigo. He and Father Gibault and this old priest here, Beret, carry these Frenchmen in their pockets. I'm not on your side, understand—I'm an American, and I'd blow the whole of you to kingdom come in a minute if I could—but common sense is common sense all the same. There's no good to you and no harm to Clark in mistreating or even holding this prisoner. What harm can he do you by going back to Clark and telling him the whole truth? Clark knows everything long before Vigo reaches here. Old Jago's best secret, left here the day you took possession, and you may bet he got to Kaskaskia in short order. He never fails. But he'll tell Clark to stay where he is, and Vigo can do no more."

What effect Helm's bold and apparently artless talk had upon Hamilton's mind is not recorded, but the meager historical facts at command show that Ripans Tablets are the best dyspepsia medicine ever made. A hundred millions of them have been sold in the United States in a single year. Constipation, heartburn, sick headache, dizziness, bad breath, sore throat and every illness arising from a disordered stomach are relieved or cured by Ripans Tablets. One will generally give relief within twenty minutes. The five cent package is enough for ordinary occasions. All druggists sell them.

Vigo was released and permitted to return under promise that he would give no information to the enemy on his way to Kaskaskia.

Doubtless this bit of careless diplomacy on the governor's part did have a somewhat soothing effect upon a large class of Frenchmen at Vincennes, but Farnsworth quickly neutralized it to a serious extent by a foolish act while slightly under the influence of liquor.

He met Father Beret near Roussillon place, and, feeling his ribs squirm at sight of the priest, he accused him insolently, demanding information as to the whereabouts of the missing flag.

A priest may be good and true—Father Beret certainly was—and yet have the strongest characteristics of a worldly man. This thing of being bullied day after day, as had recently been the rule, generated nothing to aid in removing a refractory desire from the priest's heart—the worldly desire to repeat with great increment of force the punch against Farnsworth's lower ribs.

"I order you, sir, to produce that rebel flag," said Farnsworth. "You will obey forthwith or take the consequences. I am no longer in the humor to be trifled with. Do you understand?"

"I might be forced to obey you if I could," said the priest, drawing his robe about him; "but, as I have often told you, my son, I do not know where the flag is or who took it. I do not even suspect any person of taking it. All that I know about it is the simple fact that it is gone."

"You cannot fool me!" cried Farnsworth. "Don't lie to me any longer! I won't have it. Don't stand there grinning at me. Get that flag or I'll make you!"

"What is impossible, my son, is possible to God alone. Apud homines hoc impossibile est, apud Deum autem omnia possibilia sunt."

"None of your Jesuit Latin or logic to me, I am here to argue, but to command. Get that flag. Be in a hurry about it, sir."

He whipped out his sword, and in his half drunken eyes there gathered the dull dim of murderous passion.

"Put up your weapon, captain. You will not attack an unarmed priest. You are a soldier and will not dare strike an old, defenseless man."

"But I will strike a black robed and black hearted French rebel. Get that flag, you grinning fool!"

"Strike if you must," he said very gently, very firmly. "I never yet have seen the man that could make me afraid. His speech was slightly tinged in tone, as it would have been during a prayer or a blessing."

"Get the flag, then!" roared Farnsworth, in whose veins the heat of liquor was added by an unreasoning choler.

"I cannot," said Father Beret.

Farnsworth lifted his sword, not to thrust, but to strike with its flat side, and down it flashed with a noisy whack. Father Beret flung out an arm and deftly turned the blow aside. It was done so easily that Farnsworth's eyes began to blink and he looked surprised.

"You old fool!" he cried, leveling his weapon for a direct lunge. "You devilish hypocrite!"

It was then that Father Beret turned deadly pale and swiftly crossed himself. His face looked as if he saw something just beyond his adversary. Possibly this sudden change of expression caused Farnsworth to hesitate for a mere point of time. Then there was the swish of a woman's skirts; a light step pattered on the frozen ground, and Alice sprang between the men, facing Farnsworth. As she did this something small and yellow—the locket at her throat—Vigo rolled under her feet. Nobody saw it.

In her hand she held an immense horse pistol, which she leveled in the captain's face, its flaring, bugle shaped muzzle gaping not a yard from his nose. The heavy tube was as steady as if in a vise.

as sure as you stand there in your silly impudence ogling me so brazenly!" He leaned toward her as he spoke and sent with the words a shock of course, passionate energy from which she recoiled as if expecting a blow to follow it.

An irresistible impulse swept Beverly to Alice's side, and his attitude was that of a protector. Helm sprang up.

A lieutenant came in and respectfully, with evident overhaste, reported that Captain Farnsworth had been shot and was at Roussillon place in care of the surgeon.

"Take this girl into custody. Confine her and put a strong guard over her."

In giving the order Hamilton jerked his thumb contemptuously toward Alice and at the same time gave Beverly a look of supreme defiance and hatred. When Helm began to speak he turned fiercely upon him and stopped him with:

"None of your advice, sir. I have heard you say that. Keep your place or I'll make you."

Then to Beverly: "Retire, sir. When I wish to see you I'll send for you. At present you are not needed here."

The English lieutenant saluted his commander, bowed respectfully to Alice, and then said:

"Come with me, miss, please."

Helm and Beverly exchanged a look of helplessness and inquiring rage. It was as if they had said: "What can we do? Must we bear it?" Certainly they could do nothing. Any interference on their part would be sure to increase Alice's danger and at the same time add to the weight of their own humiliation.

Alice silently followed the officer out of the room. She did not even glance toward Beverly, who moved as if to interfere and was promptly motioned back by the guard. His better judgment, returning, held him from a rash and futile act until Hamilton spoke again, saying loudly as Alice passed through the door:

"I'll see who's master of this town if I live to shoot every French hound in it!"

"Women and children may well fear you, Colonel Hamilton," said Beverly. "That young lady is your superior."

"You say that to me, sir?"

"It is the best I could possibly say of you."

"I will send you along with the wench if you do not guard your language. A prisoner on parole has no license to be a backslider."

"I return you my parole, sir. I shall no longer regard it as binding," said Beverly, by a great effort holding back a blow. "I will not keep faith with a scoundrel who does not know how to be decent in the presence of a young girl. You had better have me arrested and confined. I will escape at the first opportunity and bring a force here to reckon with you for your villainy. And if you dare hurt Alice Roussillon I will have you hanged like a dog."

Hamilton looked at him scornfully. "I thought I ordered you to leave this room," he said, with an air and tone of lofty superiority. "And I certainly mean to be obeyed. Go, sir, and if you attempt to escape or in any way break your parole I will have you shot. I have already broken it. From this moment I shall not regard it. You have heard my statement. I shall not repeat it. Govern yourself accordingly."

A SPELLED RANGE

Opportunity for Worthy Thomaston Housewife To Win A Grand Prize.

On Wednesday, Oct. 28, 1903, The Courier-Gazette is to give away a Home Quaker Range absolutely free of charge to some lady in Thomaston. The range will be disposed of through a Voting Contest, after the manner as often before conducted in these columns.

Any woman in Thomaston may compete, the one having the largest number of votes at the close of the contest being the winner. No other prizes will be given.

Winners can have choice of Ranges to burn wood, or coal, or one that will burn either wood or coal. The Quaker Ranges are now so well known to housewives that a further description is unnecessary.

The Quaker Ranges can be seen at the store of T.W. Stackpole in Thomaston, who has sold many of them, and who has yet to hear of any dissatisfaction.

It is essential to the contest that the names of not less than two contestants appear and remain actively engaged until the close. In the event of the withdrawal of all active contestants but one, there can be no contest and the prize will be withdrawn.

A coupon will be printed in each and every issue of The Courier-Gazette, until and including Tuesday, Oct. 27, 1903, which will contain the last coupon. The contest will close at this paper's business office at 6 o'clock p. m. the following Wednesday, Oct. 28.

For every $2 paid by present subscribers, either in advance or in arrears, on previous subscription, one hundred votes will be given.

Change in subscribers' names from one to another of the same family, etc., cannot be permitted.

There will be no single votes for sale; votes can only be obtained as set forth.

Votes will be counted each Wednesday and Saturday morning during the contest and the names of such counting printed in the following issue of the paper.

All communications should be addressed to Voting Contest, Courier-Gazette office, Rockland, or to the representative, O. G. Dismore, in Thomaston.

For every $2 paid by present subscribers, either in advance or in arrears, on previous subscription, one hundred votes will be given.

A FREAK OF NATURE.

Wonderful Travelling Sand Hills That are Found in Maine.

After passing another "town" of three or four mud butts we enter the famous desert of Islay, on which are what I consider the most remarkable natural curiosities to be seen on this globe for we are now among hundreds—nay, thousands—of pure white sand and crescents on a plateau of 4,500 feet above the level of the sea and fifty-four miles from the coast, where all else is of a dark red or chocolate color.

Whence comes this sand and why all ways in a crescent shape? Professor Bailey told me that scientific men do not agree as to the reason why the sand always forms the same crescent shape, although it is generally believed that the whirling eddies hereabout are responsible. Some, however, argue that such is not the case since each of these crescents has an opening toward the northeast. At any rate, the inner circle is an almost perpendicular wall of the finest pure white sand, and from the upper edges the crescents slope gradually away on the outside. They average about twenty feet in height, the inner circle having a diameter of some fifty feet, although I have seen one at least a mile and a half in diameter, which was, however, not much higher than the average. These crescents move, it is estimated, at the rate of three inches every twenty-four hours and when on the slow journey one comes near the railroad to become necessary to shovel the sand across the tracks, after which it travels on, forming new crescents or mingling with some of the others—Ernest C. Root in Harper's Magazine.

Dwellers in the Ice.

The Eskimoes, or "arctic highlanders" of Ross, live in ice caves within the vast glacier cap which covers all northern Greenland. This is perhaps the most wretched and isolated existence it is possible to conceive.

Their "dwellings" are always wet, owing to the melting of the ice walls and floor. For full six months of the year the darkness of the arctic night envelops them. The ice is around them, beneath them, above them. In nine cases out of ten if they venture abroad they breathe the frozen particles, and the sensation is akin to that which comes from inhaling the blast of a furnace.

Nevertheless they refuse to move farther south with the approach of winter, as do all the other Eskimo tribes. They take a sort of perverse pride in their loneliness as in their misery.

"What matter," they say, "if we are cold and hungry? We are the last of our people. We dwell literally at the end of the world. To the north of us there is snow, there is ice, but there is no land, and there is nothing that lives, breathes or has independent movement."—Pearson's.

THINGS THEATRICAL.

Tyrone Power will play the title role in Stephen Phillips' "Ulysses."

Richard Harding Davis has dramatized his western story, "Ransom's Folly."

Marion Manola is to star in a new musical comedy entitled "The Tinted Venus."

Blanche Walsh has been granted a final decree of divorce from Alfred Hickman.

It is said that Blanche Walsh, not to be outdone by other stars, will appear in a Shakespearean role in 1904.

Johnstone Hennessey has been engaged to play the part of Dixie Merryl in Edward Harrigan's new play, "Under Cover."

James K. Hackett's presentation of "Alexander the Great" will demand important changes being made in the various stages on which it will be seen.

Mr. Ziegfeld has engaged for his opera company, which is to produce "The Red Feather" at the Lyric theater, New York, Miss Elsie De Vere, a Parisian actress.

Mrs. Jessie Bartlett Davis recently complimented Mrs. Carrie Jacobs-Bond by singing the Chicago woman composer's ballad, "Love's Sacred Trust," at the Masonic Temple theater in the Windy City.

THOMASTON HAPPENINGS

MARGARET M. WYLLIE.

After an illness of about four weeks the hand of death has taken from our midst a loving christian mother, and the soul of Margaret M. Wyllie, wife of Thos. B. Wyllie, has returned to the God who gave it. Deceased passed away last Friday, death being due to typhoid fever, from which she was a great sufferer. Her age was 34 years. She was a native of South Warren and a daughter of Marcus S. Spear. Deceased had been a member of the Baptist church of this place for about 12 years and was a devoted christian. She is survived by her husband, one daughter, three brothers, Job, John and Edward Spear, and one sister, Mahalia. The funeral took place at 2 p. m. yesterday, Rev. W. A. Newcomb officiating. There were many beautiful flowers.

The annual installation of the officers of Gen. Knox Chapter, R. A. M., took place at Masonic hall last Friday evening, the ceremony being ably performed by Past High Priest J. E. Moore. A collection followed.

Fred Gilchrist and wife of Camden, who have been visiting in town for the last two weeks, returned home Monday.

Here are some new additions to the state prison register: George Davis, larceny, 2 1/2 years; Joseph H. Guyette, manslaughter, 3 years; John O'Hearn, breaking, entering and larceny, 1 year; Joseph Boutin, 2 years.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Robinson of Boston have been in town a few days. J. A. Richards, wagon-master at the prison, began a week's vacation Monday. J. E. Mears is substituting.

This is Topham fair week, and Thomaston will be represented. Quite a large building to be used as a henry has been constructed just outside the south wall at the prison.

The three-masted schooner under process of construction at Dunn & Elliot Co.'s yard will take her initial plunge into the Georges about Oct. 21. Her commander, Capt. John Brown, will be at home at that time.

Owing to the lateness of the season the firemen's muster talked of for this town will be postponed until 1904, when preparations will begin early enough to have the event take place.

Peter Williams, who has been serving a short sentence at the prison was discharged yesterday by reason of expiration of his term. Peter was an employee of the harness shop.

Orta Roney and Fred Russell of Bath came home Saturday remaining until Monday.

The W. O. Masters Hose Co., and Our Own Hook and Ladder Co. returned from Boston Saturday morning, where they have been enjoying a week's outing. The members took in the Mechanics fair, the scrap in Chinatown, got some points from the Boston fire department and had a bang up time.

A. F. P. Hyler, employed in the wholesale boot and shoe house of Finch Bros. & Co., Boston, came home Sunday on account of the illness of his sister.

Fred Kallach returned home from Belfast last week, where he has been employed during the summer as a ship blacksmith.

Miss Annie Jameson is one of the assistant librarians at the Baptist Sunday school, having taken the place of Miss Jennie L. Smith, who is in Augusta.

Rev. S. L. Hanson of Bar Harbor, a former pastor here, will deliver an address on "Reunionism" at the Methodist A. B. Allen at 7 o'clock this evening. Mr. Hanson is a ready speaker and is abundantly able to handle his subject in a plain and intelligent manner.

The fall millinery openings in Thomaston will take place Friday, Oct. 16. Miss E. D. Daniels and Mrs. A. F. Winchenbach have both recently returned from Boston, where they have selected a fine line of the latest and most up-to-date styles in hats, bonnets etc., which will make a very pretty and attractive display. Among the leading colors this season are burnt orange, petunia, emerald green and different shades of brown.

Capt. John Brown, who has been visiting his old home at Copenhagen, Denmark, for the last three months, left for Thomaston Oct. 8 and is expected to arrive here about the 20th.

All of the women will be looking for a new hat Friday.

W. P. Rice and party have returned from several week's visit at the White Mountains and other places.

A new furnace has been installed in the G. L. Robinson Drug Co.'s store.

The new Webster system of heating the prison works admirably.

The supper given by the T. H. S. class of 1904 at the Congregational vestry last Friday evening was well patronized. One young man is said to have got his money's worth all right, for among the many other articles of diet devoured the report is that he got outside of four plates of beans.

Mrs. W. D. Andrews and son Harold of Damariscotta were in town last week.

The premises lately occupied by Gleason Young of Warren as a coal dealers plant etc., will be sold at auction Tuesday, Oct. 20.

The members of the Methodist society served a dinner at the W. W. Rice hall last Saturday for the accommodation of the prison excursionists. It was well patronized.

The stage in Union hall has been enlarged so as to hold an 18 foot ring for the sparring exhibition Wednesday evening.

Owing to the fact that the Boston boat has been laid up at her berth on account of heavy weather some of the members of the Masters Hose Co. and Hook and Ladder Co. had not arrived home from Boston up to last night.

In Social Circles

Mrs. Joseph York is quite seriously ill at her home, 15 Masonic street. J. Rodney Flye entertained a dozen friends at his cozy home on Crescent street Sunday afternoon and evening. A picnic supper containing many delicacies was served. Mr. Flye's social faculties as a host are well known to those who have enjoyed the hospitality of his home.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Berry have recently taken up their abode at the Thorndike hotel, where they will spend the winter. Their example will be followed by many other Rockland people, several of whom were there last winter. Mrs. Mary Norton and daughter, Miss Norton are among those who have already engaged rooms.

Mrs. F. C. Knight, who has been visiting in Boston is expected home Thursday or Friday. Saturday Mr. and Mrs. Frank K. Pierce and son come from Portland to visit her.

Miss Emma L. Crockett has returned from a visit in Belfast and resumes her position as stenographer at Black's insurance office.

Rockland was represented at the Federation of Women's Clubs in Portland last week as follows: Mrs. George A. Glover, Shakespeare Society, Helen A. Knowlton, Mrs. Edith Bird, Progressive Literary Club, Mrs. Annie Williams, Mrs. Glover read an interesting paper on "Forestry" at Thursday's session. The Federation now has 114 clubs with a combined membership of more than 4000—the high tide mark.

Lieut. Carlton F. Snow, U. S. N., left today enroute for San Francisco, where he will join the U. S. S. Petrel, in the capacity of navigator, sailing for the Asiatic Squadron.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Berry have been at his Rockland home for above a year and a half on sick leave. He served with gallantry in the Philippine war and from excessive exposure contracted malaria.

Mr. Berry was ordered to service in Cuban waters, this before he had had time to recover from his Philippine experiences. Arduous work at surveying and chart making, extended over several months, brought him home from Cuba in badly reduced health, a return to the full enjoyment of which he has been seeking in a quiet life here among his friends.

Obituary.

MRS. LUCY A. ROBINSON.

Lucy A., widow of the late Artemus Robinson, died at her home on Grace street Sunday night, aged 77 years.

She had been an invalid about nine years, and during the past week had been considered quite ill, but on Sunday, the day of her demise, was about the house, ate meals, and retired at 7 o'clock apparently as well as she had been for some time. Shortly afterward she suffered an ill turn and died quietly. Drospey is given as the cause.

Mrs. Robinson is a native of Belfast. In 1850 she moved to Jersey City, N. J., where she remained two years and where her son, City Treasurer Lorenzo S. Robinson was born. The family then moved to Rockland. Mrs. Robinson had been a member of the Methodist church 30 years, most of which she was a Sunday school teacher in Rockland and Damariscotta.

During the period of her invalidism, Mrs. Robinson went from the house comparatively little, but she retained her interest in church and social matters and was never happier than when she was entertaining guests. She was a woman of kindly and noble impulses, and her death was a loss to the community.

She is survived by one sister, Mrs. Lizzie Milliken of Tenafly, N. J., and by two sons, City Treasurer Robinson of Rockland, and Fred A. Robinson of Portland. The latter came from Portland Saturday on a flying visit and quite by chance was present at his mother's death. The funeral will take place this afternoon at 2 o'clock, Rev. L. L. Hanson, D. D. of the city and Rev. C. A. Plummer of Thomaston officiating.

LEONARD H. SYLVESTER.

The many friends of Leonard H. Sylvester at Glen Cove were pained to learn of his death which occurred Sunday forenoon at Old Orchard, where he has resided with his family for several years. While there he was known to his friends as Leonard H. Sylvester, but he would recover. Mr. Sylvester was born at Glen Cove and spent his life here until within a few years, residing first in the family of the late Capt. Charles A. Sylvester, his grandfather, and after his marriage, in the house which he built on Commercial street. His father, the late Nathaniel Sylvester, died when Leonard was quite young, but his mother, Mrs. Laura E. Sylvester, is living and was with him during his last sickness. He was a young man of exemplary character, and very popular wherever he was. He married Emma E. Collins of Glen Cove, daughter of Capt. E. J. Collins, who formerly resided there, and now at Rockland. She, together with one son, Edward N., survive. His death is a great loss to his grandfather, Mr. Sylvester, who within a few years has lost her husband and son. The sympathy of the entire community is extended to the family and relatives in their bereavement. Services will be held at Old Orchard under the direction of the lodge of Odd Fellows there, of which the deceased was a member, and the body will then be brought to Glen Cove, where funeral services will be held at the Sylvester residence, Oak street, at 2 p. m. Wednesday.

RAINBOW PRATT.

Bainbridge Pratt, the well known sailmaker, died at his home on Park street Friday night after an illness which had confined him to his home about five weeks. The cause of his death was heart trouble. Mr. Pratt was an energetic, unassuming worker, and over-application is thought to have contributed to his malady. Mr. Pratt had been a resident of Rockland 18 years and for quite a long period was employed at Wm. Farrow's sail loft. More recently, however, he had been employed at the Washburn sail loft in Thomaston. He was an excellent workman and bore the respect of all with whom he came in contact. He was a member of the Knights of Honor. He is survived by a wife, one daughter, Maude A., who lives at home; a son, Harry M., principal of the Manual training department of Good Will Farm school at East Fairfield; a step-son, C. Frank Jones, head stenographer for the National Cash Register Co., at Somerville, Mass.

Mr. Pratt's death leaves but one of the three brothers, Melvin Pratt of Grace street, who is the youngest of the family. The funeral was held yesterday, Rev. E. H. Chapin officiated and paid an eloquent tribute to the memory of the deceased. The interment was at the family lot in Achorn cemetery.

Daly, Knight and Wall.

Particulars Regarding the Thomaston Engagement Tomorrow Night—Other Sporting Matters.

The climax of local sporting interest is quite sure to be reached tomorrow night at Thomaston, when there will take place the much discussed meeting between Prof. Dan Daly and the Arthur Wall-Fred Knight combination. The history of this match is probably known to every reader of sporting matters in Knox county, but a brief review at this time may not be out of place.

When Prof. Daly had his first match in this city, last month, Arthur Wall was one of the participants in the preliminaries. The subsequent financial details were not wholly to his liking and he said so. Prof. Daly heard of his remarks and jotted down a note in his diary. Later Fred Knight came before the public gaze as an expounder of the many art doctrine, and Prof. Daly authorized this paper to state that he would meet both men the same night and agree to stop each man in five rounds. The challenge, or

People who have no particular interest in sparring matches, and even those who generally oppose them, are anxious to have this match come off. Some of them want to have their curiosity gratified and others want to see the professor knocked into the next county. This match does not mean a bloody conflict as some persons have been led to believe; on the contrary it is a match in which both sides are seeking a decision. If Daly outpoints Wall in the first five rounds, he will undertake to do the same with Knight in the next five. Of course if he should be knocked out by Wall he would not meet Knight. In the event of this first bout a draw he goes against Knight just the same. An absolutely impartial referee will be secured and the whole match will be on its merits.

The preliminaries will be the best ever seen in the county. The participants are not fakes from Fall River or South Boston, but local boys who are known and among whom there is much rivalry. First there will be six rounds between D. Swift and Jim Doherty, both of whom are said to be the "real thing." Bill Webber then tackles an unknown for six rounds. There is a bright prospect that Tom Sawyer and Jim Seavey will settle their great rag-chewing demonstration. The exhibition takes place in Union hall, Thomaston, Wednesday night.

The football game between Rockland High and Cony High of Augusta, which took place on the Broadway ground Saturday afternoon, is not a pleasant matter to review, when you consider it from the Rockland standpoint. Our boys were by no means the victims of over-confidence, for they were well aware that Cony High was one of the strongest teams in the state, and that every effort would be needed to keep them from piling up a big score. Neither does seem possible that nervousness could have been the cause, for Rockland had been well coached for some weeks and had won the game at Bath by a score of 11 to 5.

In the first half Rockland lost some splendid opportunities by fumbling in a manner difficult to excuse. In nearly every instance the ball went to Cony High and there would be a mad, irresistible plunge for Rockland's goal posts. In the second period Rockland made a much more plucky resistance, but the ability of the Augusta team blossomed forth in the long runs of the Metcalf and the Metcalf, who eluded the Rockland players and ran as pursued by a bunch of spooks. Little's run was at least 60 yards, and was one of the star features of the game. Augusta certainly was a strong team, but it is difficult to see where any other high school team in the state will have any snap with her.

Hanscom developed some unlooked-for strength for Rockland and made the longest gains for that team. Spaulding, Butler and Simmons were often in evidence, and though in a lost cause, their work deserves much praise. The score:

The Saturday football games developed some interesting points. Amherst beat Harvard 5 to 0, while the Springfield Training School gave Yale something of a shock. Bowdoin was defeated 15 to 0 by Exeter in an exhibition of much brutality.

The baseball championship series between Pittsburg and Boston now stands four to three in favor of Boston, the team having won three straight. If Boston wins the next game it is all off with the Pirates and their countless backers.

In Theatrical Circles.

Our Old Friend Jere McAuliffe Will Be at Farwell Opera House Three Days This Week.

Good plays at popular prices are what the theatre going public demand these days, and expect the same productions for popular prices as they do for a dollar. Jere McAuliffe, who is well and favorably known in this city heads his own company which is to appear at Farwell opera house next week, is wise to all this and is giving a dollar production for popular prices. Jere's plays and vaudeville acts are all new this season and each play presented will be given a scenic production. The McAuliffe Company has always been exceptionally strong in its vaudeville features and this year presents as its headliner Mamie Remington and her bungle boo-boo babies. The play for Thursday matinee will be "A Run Away Match," Thursday night, "The Lovers' Vow," and Friday night, "The Outcasts of a Great City." "The Penitent" and "Pitfalls of New York." Thursday afternoon is ladies' bargain night. Prices, 10-20-30 cents, first six rows in orchestra 50 cents, evening only; matinee, 10-20-30 cents; all seats reserved. Seat sale opens tomorrow (Wednesday) morning at 9 o'clock. Ladies' matinee tickets limited to $30. Telephone, 48-11.

Kellar makes his first appearance in this city October 30.

The C. J. Roe Stock Company supporting Campbell Stratton will open their engagement in this city with Robert Mantel's great success, "Face In The Moonlight." They will produce also during the week and for the first time in Rockland E. H. Southern's great play, "The Highest Bidder." Other plays to be presented by the company are "Australia," "Jack Sheppard," "The Day of Judgment," "Resurrection," "Her Only Son," "Jesse James," and "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde." Six big vaudeville acts are carried by this company, a car of all special scenery, good light effects, pretty costumes, etc. Campbell Stratton is today considered one of the best performers leading men and during their engagement in this city last season made

PLEASANT POINT.

Mrs. Grace Demuth has purchased a new piano.

Mrs. Richard Davis was in Thomaston, Wednesday.

Mrs. Leander Moore has returned home from a two weeks visit in Thomaston. She was accompanied home by her daughter, Mrs. Oscar Williams and little daughter Grace Margaret Williams.

Frank Grindle of Castine is visiting at Julian Young's.

Alonso Seavey has returned home from New York where he has been spending the summer vacation.

J. H. Brennan has 3000 barrels of fish in his weir at Maple Juice Cove.

Leander Moore and Frank Fillmore have gone to Gloucester, Mass., pollocking in schooner Nellie Davis, Capt. James Murphy, Friday.

Capt. Julian Young takes the lead for potato stories. While going down to his field one morning he was greatly surprised to find a procession of potato bugs comprising 35 span. One old patriarch was standing on a potato and driving toward the house. After nearly doing his work by landing the potato before the cellar door, all the bugs proceeded back to the field to eat up the rest of the potatoes as a recompense of their labor. This story can be certified to by Capt. Young's nearest neighbors.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy Saved His Boy's Life.

"I believe I saved my (nine year old) boy's life this winter with Chamberlain's Cough Remedy," says A. M. Hoppe, Rio Creek, Wis. "He was so choked up with croup that he could not speak. I gave it to him freely until he vomited and in a short time he was all right." For sale by all druggists.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY. Take Laxative Broom Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund the money if it fails to cure. E. W. Grove's signature is on each box. 25c.

"It was almost a miracle. Burdock Blood Bitters cured me of a terrible breaking out all over the body. I am very grateful." Miss Julia F. Bridge, West Cornwall, Conn.

SUNSET

Mr. and Mrs. Walter L. Wilson of Castine were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Coolen last week. Mrs. Coolen is Mrs. Wilson's mother. Mrs. Wilson was accompanied home by her mother who will spend several weeks with her. Capt. L. B. Cole has arrived home from a vacation.

School is progressing well in Lower Sunset. District No. 13 under the instruction of Hoyt Foster.

The birthday of our venerable old lady, "Aunt Saloma," is celebrated on Oct. 15th will soon be here when she will have attained the remarkable age of 103 years. She still retains her mental faculties in a great degree, and is always pleased to have her friends call on her.

SCOTT'S EMULSION

Scott's Emulsion is the means of life and of the enjoyment of life of thousands of men, women and children.

To the men Scott's Emulsion gives the flesh and strength so necessary for the cure of consumption and the repairing of body losses from any wasting disease.

For women Scott's Emulsion does this and more. It is a most sustaining food and tonic for the special trials that women have to bear.

To children Scott's Emulsion gives food and strength for growth of flesh and bone and blood. For pale girls, for thin and sickly boys Scott's Emulsion is a great help.

many friends. Their date here will be Monday, Oct. 13, for on Tuesday and Wednesday nights will be ladies night.

A funny man is Harry Stubbs in "The Gay and Goldsmith" which will be seen at the Farwell opera house Monday evening, Oct. 26.

The Jefferson theatre Portland took care of a good many large audiences last week, the occasion being Jere McAuliffe's Big Stock Company. The Portland Press and Argus spoke in the highest terms of this company and the scenic effects. Here is something they had to say about Mamie Remington and her bungle boo-boo babies, the highest salaried act ever carried by a repertoire company: "Margaret Remington and her bungle boo-boo babies made their first appearance in Portland last evening with the McAuliffe Stock Company and we are forced to say that this act is without doubt one of the best ever seen in this city with a popular priced attraction."

Kellar will give one performance in this city, October 30.

It is doubtful if there is on record a more remarkable instance of the complete establishment in popular favor of a playhouse in the brief space of one week, than has been demonstrated by the wonderful success of the Columbia theatre, Boston, under the management of Sam S. and Lee Shubert. The current attraction is Francis Wilson, and Nixon & Zimmerman's company of star players in a sumptuous revival of "Erminie." Among the players of especial prominence are: Margaret Sylvia, Jessie Bartlett Davis, Madge Lessing, Jennie Weatherby, Francis Wilson, William Broderick, Alton Parr and Signor Perugini. The engagement of this company will terminate at the Columbia on Saturday, Oct. 17, and on Monday, the 19th, "The Runaways," the big New York Casino musical comedy success, will open for a limited engagement with Fay Templeton at the head of an extraordinary cast.

THE MI-O-NA TREATMENT.

Flesh Forming Food in Tablet Form That Increases Flesh—Guaranteed by C. H. Pendleton.

The discovery of Mi-o-na, the remarkable flesh-forming food that builds up good, healthy, solid flesh and makes thinness and scrawliness a thing of the past, has revolutionized medical practice in certain lines.

Its power to do all that is claimed for it was so clearly proven that C. H. Pendleton that he has sold Mi-o-na with the understanding that if it fails to purchase price was to be refunded.

C. H. Pendleton certainly exhibited courage in taking this method of selling Mi-o-na, but the results have fully proven that his judgment that the Mi-o-na treatment for stomach troubles, emaciation, general weakness and run down condition is the only efficacious and reliable cure.

Mi-o-na possesses healing and soothing qualities that make it especially valuable in cases of chronic indigestion and dyspepsia. Two or three tablets taken each day in connection with the regular food proves a true flesh former.

All that many a woman lacks to be positively pretty is a little more flesh on her face. To look haggard or not not fat is never becoming. The use of Mi-o-na will cure this defect.

With every 50c box of Mi-o-na that C. H. Pendleton sells he will give a written guarantee to refund the money if it does not give an increase in flesh and restore strength. What a trifling cost this is if it makes you well; if it fails, the expense is absolutely nothing.

OWLS HEAD.

Quite a delegation attended the convention in Rockland from Owl's Head.

Miss I. H. Tolman is having an artisan well drilled.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mathews have closed up Winona cottage and left for their home in Waterville, Monday.

Mrs. S. A. Burleigh and sister Nettie, have closed their cottage for the season, returning to Vassalboro.

Marcellus Wentworth has nearly completed his house and stable, having made some extensive repairs on them.

SWANS ISLAND. An occurrence of considerable interest on Sunday, Sept. 27, was the marriage of Frank Achorn and Miss Mina Gott of Rockport. The ceremony was performed in a very pleasing manner by Rev. Joseph Jackson of Stonington, at the residence of the bride's brother-in-law, Capt. Horace Stanley. Mrs. Achorn was formerly a resident of Swan's Island, where for several years she occupied a prominent position in the Methodist church and social circles. A lady of high principle and amiable disposition her many friends unite in wishing her a pleasant and prosperous future.

UNION.

High school began Monday of last week.

George Thorndike and wife have returned to Taunton, Mass.

Levi Russell and wife have moved into the tenement over W. T. Davis.

E. E. Thurston, Chas. Simmons and a few others returned from Brockton, Mass. fair last week.

Mrs. S. G. McAlmon and son Harry, have been visiting friends in town.

Geo. H. Page, Esq. of Appleton was in town last week.

John P. Sheldon, Esq. of Morrill visited his daughter, Mrs. L. D. Jones, last week.

Harry, the 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Moore, fell from a swing at school one day recently and broke his wrist. He is doing nicely.

Business is rushing at the apple evaporator at present.

K. F. Wight is again making extensive repairs on the Burton House. These together with what was made last spring make it as fine a house as can be found in a country town.

Some miscreant had the audacity to come to his own use, his valuable stove supposed to belong to C. W. Clark, one of our young and prosperous merchants. The stove was sitting in front of Miller & Simmons' blacksmith shop and one morning was gone.

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union gave a reception in their hall Oct. 6, in honor of their new president, Mrs. Clara Light, and ex-president, Mrs. Maria Drake. After the usual routine of business many stirring remarks were made by many of those present and all seemed determined to be more watchful and diligent in the year to come. The occasion was enlivened by singing. Mrs. Lizzie Laughton presided at the organ. The introduction of little Ruth McWhorter and the tying of the white ribbon around her waist by a member was a feature also the presentation to past presidents of pine cones by Mrs. A. L. Jones was a feature of the evening.

Many beautiful flowers were presented to the officers. Our pastors were present and other honorary members. A nice supper was served at the close.

Letter to Enoch Davis. Rockland, Me.

Dear Sir: The Trustees of Fair Cobblehill, N. Y., were glad to pay 15 cents a gallon more for Devco; and no wonder. Two other paint agents said it would take 150 gallons of their paint to cover the buildings.

Our agent put it at 125 or less. It took 115.

We saved them 35 gallons of paint and painting (worth $4 to $5 a gallon, as the other paint was 15 cents a gallon as much as the paint) less 15 cents a gallon on 115 gallons. Say $140.

That's how to count the cost of paint. The cost of putting it on is $3 or $4 a gallon. You see what that means. Go buy Devco.

Yours truly, F. W. Devco & Co. P. S.—Farrand, Spear & Co. sell our paint.

LIBERTYVILLE. Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Stickney visited Mr. and Mrs. Charles Banks in North Seaside one day last week.

DRINK

A wingless of Radam's Microbe Killer after meals and at bedtime and it will prevent and cure disease by destroying bacteria, the organic life that causes fermentation and decay of the blood, the tissues and the vital organs.

Microbe Killer is the only known antiseptic principle that will destroy the germs of disease in the blood without injury to the tissues. Pleasant to the taste and agreeable to the most delicate stomach. A purely scientific remedy, recognized as a true specific.

FOR RHEUMATISM

All forms of Rheumatism, Lumbago, Sciatica, etc., are seen, under microscopic examination, to be the result of clusters of tenacious and venomous and highly inflammatory microbes in the blood and in the joints of the frame, the wrists, elbows, knees, ankles, hip joints, back and loins, and in various muscles, including those of the heart and other vital organs. And, from the testimony of thousands upon thousands of chronic sufferers who have resorted to Microbe Killer as an antidote, it would seem that the blood never fails to yield to its purifying energy; showing the law of the cure to be the elimination of the rheumatic germs and germ poisons from the joints, the muscles and the blood.

Arthur B. Fogle, Cumberland, Md., writes: I had been suffering with Rheumatism for eighteen months, during which time I had to keep my limbs in bandages. I had taken many medicines without relief, when I commenced using the Microbe Killer. It cured me completely and I cannot speak too highly of it.

GOWN GOSSIP.

Lace gowns are as appropriate for winter as for summer wear.

Velvet, in all its forms and modulations, is seen in costumes and decorations.

Taffeta has come into its ancient fame once more. It is undoubtedly the most fashionable silk now being worn.

English embroidery, of which so many dainty summer gowns were made, will also appear in blouses this fall.

The possibilities of ribbon seem to be unlimited. Ribbon has covered with ribbon flowers and garlands are shown in the millinery shops.

Batiste waists, lace trimmed, will be worn all winter with coat and skirt gowns. A new and pleasing idea is to have the batiste waist match the color of the wool material.

Chiffon velour is being made up into exquisite gowns for dress occasions. It is an expensive material, costing from $150 to $3 a yard, but it is thirty three inches wide and every scrap of it counts, as it is necessarily made up simply.—New York Post.

Leon C. Marshall, who has recently been called to the chair of economics in the Ohio Wesleyan university, is probably the youngest man to occupy such a position anywhere. He is now 34 years of age.

TO SNUFF VOLCANOES.

Startling Discovery Made by An Australian.

Volcanoes can easily be extinguished, says the New York Herald. A New Zealand man claims (and there are many who agree with him) to have discovered a liquid by means of which volcanoes may be extinguished quickly whether active or threatening.

Many diseases of the human body act in the same manner as volcanoes. Dyspepsia, Rheumatism, Kidney Disease, Venereal Diseases and many others all begin with a slight disturbance of pain and distress, and if not treated in time will burst forth in all their fury, causing all who are so afflicted the most intense suffering and making life a complete burden.

That a liquid has been discovered which will extinguish these volcanic eruptions of disease, whether active or threatening, is not only certain but a material fact.

DR. DAVID KENNEDY'S FAVORITE REMEDY is this liquid discovery. THE WONDERFUL CURATIVE POWERS of this famous remedy have cut a new path through the field of medicine, sweeping with it a startling record of tremendous success.

Druggists sell it in New 50 Cent Size and the regular $1.00 size bottles. Sample bottle, enough for trial, free by mail. Dr. David Kennedy Corporation, Rondout, N. Y.
